Conclusion

Our strategy has created a culture of wellbeing in the school which is firmly at the heart of all that we do – we have carefully gathered data to inform our practice and direct us in formulating the vision of our school. Through the implementation of our wellbeing strategy we have positively affected our young people, their parents/caregivers and our staff. It is only with all the relevant stakeholders working in harmony will we able to affect all young people with the skills they need to thrive in adulthood.